FARMING, & C.

FARM WORK FOR MARCH.

As the warm weather approaches, few things are more important about the house than to see that the cellar is in good order.

See that the beef and pork were properly packed, and are in good condition to remain sound in hot weather.

POULTRY HOUSE.—Eggs and hens too, will be scarce, if the poultry house is infested with vermin.

Catch the fowls and rub a little grease under the wing, on the head, and touch various places on the body with it.

CLOVER SEED.—Now clover seed on lands that were laid to grass last summer or fall.

FRUIT TREES.—It is said that a hole bored in the body of a fruit tree and filled with sulphur, will so infect the tree that no insect or worm can live upon it.

The Isabella grape flourishes so finely in Brazil, that the size and quality of the fruit is much better than in the United States.

Cows.—Cows sometimes get a surfeit of grass, especially in wet, warm weather, when the grass is succulent and rich.

SHEEP.—If sheep are kept in the same lot with cows or fat cattle, no dog will disturb them.

"P. H. F." Babylon, N. Y., sends us the following receipt for hog cholera, which he has tried, and proved a cure:

"Ten grains curade Barrel, ten grains soda ash, made fine and slacked in hot water, given three times a day."

SCAB IN SHEEP.—It is said a wash composed of steeped tobacco, turpentine, and oil of vitriol will cure this disease.

JUST before rain flowers smell stronger and sweeter, because the vapors of the air prevent the scented particles of their perfume from ascending.

A meadow should never be pastured, and more especially in the spring.

"I do declare, Sal, you look good enough to eat." "Well, Solomon, ain't I eating as fast as I can?" replied Sal, with her mouth full.

THE NEW YORK MERCURY

FOR 1867.

This veteran and sterling journal of the whole world's choicest literature opens its 20th volume in the full tide of that prosperous and uninterrupted popularity which has sustained it at the head of the American weekly press for nearly a third of a century.

COMPLETE LIBRARY OF FIRESIDE ROMANCE.

It will enter upon the New Year not only as a repository of fresh and original masterpieces from the leading novelists of this country, England, and France, but also as a volume of the classic fiction of the olden time, which will be carefully revised, and adapted to the most fastidious requirements of modern taste and delicacy.

NOTABLE BOOKS.

POPULAR ARTISTS, and all persons, things, and events in which the whole country may be supposed to take special interest.

DEVELOP NEW TALENT.

From the modest ranks of those possessors of marked intellectual abilities who have hitherto been neglected, seeking print through fear of editorial rebuff or neglect.

EVERY SUBSCRIBER TO THE NEW YORK MERCURY IN 1867 WILL BE INVITED TO WRITE FOR ITS COLUMNS.

and the proprietors promise to be generous as well as first in deciding what manuscripts are worthy of publication.

PROSPECTUS

THE CRISIS,

For 1867.

The Seventh Volume and the Seventh Year of the publication of THE CRISIS is about to begin, and, in accordance with custom, we issue our Annual Prospectus. We need not recapitulate its history during the stormy years of its existence, nor remind those who have read it, of its services in behalf of the great principles of the Democracy, and what its conductors conceived, and what time has shown, to be the best interests of the country.

On the score of principle we claim for it the merit of fidelity, honesty, and consistency. As a newspaper we claim for it the merit of being an exponent of Western interests and ideas, a reliable journal of the times, a valuable companion of the farmer, the mechanic, the business man, and the family circle. It is our aim to fill the large sheet with matter of real interest and permanent value—to discuss questions of principle that are of real significance, to inform, improve, and instruct, as well as amuse—and to this end we discard the idle twaddle which goes so far to fill up the daily papers, the obscene advertisements, and the sensational folly of the day.

The political views of THE CRISIS scarcely require definition. It is in favor of Democratic principles in all their breadth and purity, as expounded by Thomas Jefferson, and the other really great men and founders of the Government, and upon which the Government was successfully conducted for seventy years. It is opposed to the Abolitionism which now controls the Federal Government, in all its shapes and under whatever device it may appear. It is opposed to the entire Abolition theory of politics, and all the monstrosities, humbugs, and delusions which grow out of it. It is opposed to the thieving anarchy, the tyrannical assumptions, the stupid and barbarous policies and the lawless usurpations of Congress, and to all the machinery that the Jacobins have devised and put in operation to overthrow Republican Government, insinuate narrow and oppressive taxation, and oppress them with odious taxes and tyrannical, insane, and corrupt legislation. And in advocating the correct principles and opposing the evils we have named, we shall continue to do it without fear or favor.

In order to successfully conduct such a paper as THE CRISIS, it must have a large list of subscribers; and to secure that we rely upon our friends and those who have taken the paper. We cannot compete with the cheap, shoddy publications of the East by offering bogus premiums on employing traveling agents; but we earnestly solicit the aid of our readers in extending our circulation by their personal efforts. It will require but little exertion from each, but the aggregate will enable us to furnish them with a paper fully equal in size, superior in print to any Eastern publication, and of a great deal more interest and importance to Western Democrats. Friends, shall we call upon you in vain for the small favor we ask, and in a cause of such magnitude and value? Now is the time to send in subscriptions for the new volume, which, at the end of the year, will be worth thrice the amount of the subscription price.

Our terms are $3.00 per year, $1.50 for six months, $1.00 for four months. One extra copy will be sent to any one getting up a club of six yearly subscribers; and to any one sending a club of ten for six or four months an extra copy for the club time. For a club of ten yearly subscribers a complete set of the volumes of THE CRISIS for six years. WILLIAM TREVITT, Publisher and Proprietor, Columbus, 1867.

PROSPECTUS

CINCINNATI WEEKLY ENQUIRER,

For 1867.

Extraordinary Inducements to Our Agent

Premiums Amounting to;

$1,445 00!

To be Distributed in April, 1867!

For List of Premiums and Particulars of Distribution, see Weekly Enquirer and Subscription Circulars!

WE, this year, offer prizes to the above amount as an incentive to those of our patrons who will exert themselves to form clubs. If our paper could be taken in the household of all our Democratic friends, South and West, it would be doing more for the political aspect of affairs. The great point for which all friends of the Union should labor for is the dissemination of Democratic truth. It had had an equal hearing with the errors of our opponents, we should never have had the terrible crisis of the last five years. Taught by sad experience, we must place the Democracy again in power. As auxiliary to this end, and as the most effective agent in the work, we repeat, is the circulation of the Democratic press.

What evils have fallen upon the land, owing to the erroneous political education of the masses! If we would restore the old order of things once more, of National Unity and the old-fashioned Peace and Prosperity, we must place the Democracy again in power. As auxiliary to this end, and as the most effective agent in the work, we repeat, is the circulation of the Democratic press.

The Enquirer has some claims upon the consideration of the Democracy that are universally acknowledged. Through its pages, and persuasion unexampled, with military edicts cutting off our circulation in whole States and districts, threatened with total suppression, personal imprisonment and mob violence, we have not changed our course, we stood by the Democratic flag and gave expression to its tenets. Twice burned to the ground within thirteen months, and amid the greatest pecuniary disasters consequent upon it, we have never lost an issue of our paper, or broken a promise to any of our subscribers. In the future, as in the past, under the sun of prosperity as well as the clouds of adversity, we shall bear aloft the Democratic banner, and be faithful to its organization. Will not the Democracy of the North and West stand by them who were true in the darkest hours to their political and personal interests, and will they not exert themselves to increase our circulation?

As a business and family journal, the Enquirer has no superior. Each number contains a large amount of general news, latest and most reliable intelligence, and reading matter. Financial and Commercial News is made a special feature of the Enquirer. An unusually large space being devoted to fill and reliable reports of the ruling prices of this and other markets.

The Weekly Enquirer will be mailed to subscribers at the following reduced rates:

Single copy, 10 cts.

Six months, 1 25

Ten copies, one year, 20 00

With an additional charge to the getter up of the Club. Money to be sent at our risk by express, prepaid, or in registered letters, or post. For sums over ten dollars by mail, drafts or post-office money orders should be procured.
